PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE. Last week a "protest" against a new pavement for Pennsylvania avenue was industriously circulated for signatures, and it seems that some thirty-five were obtained out of the twelve hundred, more or less, business men on the Avenue, and of these thirty-five the greater part of them | who have visited both sections of our counare renters of property on the Avenue, and have no further interest in its business prosperity than what pertains simply to the collection of their enormous rents. There is not a single owner of property on Pennsylvania avenue who would sell it today at its assessed valuation with one third added, and there never was a time when such high prices for rent were charged as now. The prices asked for property and the rents charged are the true and only criterions of its value in the estimation of its owners. Columbus Alexander signs the "protest;" and what for? Simply to try to delude a Democratic House with it as an evidence of "corruption," when he, as every other well-informed person knows that the late Board of Public Works had nothing whatever to do with it. The best and surest business interests of every merchant on the Avenue is jeopardized by all who oppose the improvement. It makes no difference what has been and what might have been. The fact is we need a new pavement, and a vast majority of those interested have earnestly petitioned for it, and are ready and willing to bear their share of the expense. "Wait for Congress," the opponents say. "Wait for the judgment," would be a no more senseless cry. Even if Congress should take the matter up favorably an appropriation | influence, except to mold the general outcould not be made available before the 1st of June next, and the new pavement | tiens. THE PLAIN ENGLISH OF IT. The New York "hard money" press belabors the Ohio Democracy most unmercifully for its financial plank, and insists that it should have taken its inspiration upon that subject from Wall street. While we cannot for a moment approve of the doctrine of inflation put forth by the Democrats, we do not see why the denizens of Wall street should find any fault with it. They have taught this policy by their management of all railway enterprises in the West. The moment that New York capitalists assume control the stocks are watered and the whole business carried forward upon inflation principles. Western men have learned this to their sorrow. They have paid for it in the shape of inflated rates of freight, and now they want inflated prices for their real property and produce. They know that they can only obtain them by an increase of the circulating medium. They do not care for New York. They have a decided advantage of New York capitalists. They owe New York more than New York owes them, and they know, besides, that if Eastern capital pushes the West and South to extremities the reaction will break New York. To be sure the West will break first, but New York will be overwhelmed when the great financial tidal wave returns back from the West and South. The Hendricks and Pendleton men are not looking for Eastern votes to carry the next Presidential campaign. They propose to unite the West and South upon chean transportation and inflation, and defy the capitalists of the East. They propose to pay their Eastern debts in a depreciated currency. It is possible that they have shown their hand a little too soon, but they think they can surely count upon the election of their candidates without the aid of the North. Perhaps they are not to be blamed, considering how they have been swindled by the railway and bank capitalists of New York. The latter say that if they contract their rates of freight and passage on the great trunk roads to "hard pan" prices, prices that will pay dividends and interest on the actual cost of the improvement, on the stocks and bonds remaining after the water is aqueezed out, they will break-will be hopelessly bank rupt. No doubt they some truly. The managers have stolen and packeted all that is now represented by water and sold out, as Gould did out of the Erre. Now, the producers of the West turn around and give these New York campulists tit for tat. They say, if you contract the currency and force us to gold prices, we will be hopelessly bankrupt and cannot pay you these inflated rates of freight, nor, in fact, produce large crops for your roads to carry off. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. You loaned us inflated money, and you want your pay in gold. We propose to pay you in kind. We have the power to out-vote you, and we intend to use it. If you do not like it, we will trade with New Orleans and Bultimore and Norfolk. This is the plain English of the Opio piatform as it is whispered under the breath. How does the New York Democracy like it?

PRACTICAL RECONCILIATION.

It is probable that, with the exception of the Fifth Maryland regiment the majority of the members of the military organizations which participated in the late Bunker Hill Centennial celebration at Boston were Democrats. A smaller number of them were ex Confederates - veterans of the late rebel army. The magnificent and comprehensive bospitality with which they were greeted cannot fail to have a desirable effect upor them in healing the wounds of civil strife-unless, of course, the Temperance | And why don't this object of omnipotent Alliance does not again disgrace the "Hub" by counting the number of drinks and eigars | ious carse may be snatched up by the irreconsumed by them.
